HOW TO SCORE

Because basketball is a fast scoring game, it is necessary to have two scoring columns and a box score. The box score is more or less a recapitulation, giving the spectator the opportunity to check scoring points for each individual player. The electric scoreboard shows the relative standing of the team at all times.

Symbols for Scorings

X—Field goal (2 points).

⊕—Free throw, successful (1 point).

O—Free throw, unsuccessful (no points).

P—Personal foul, six of which eliminate player from the game.

NBA RULES FOR 1955-56

1. All games shall be played in four 12-minute periods.

2. PERSONAL FOUL

A. The present limitation of 6 personal fouls per player per game including over-time or over-times, remains.

B. A team shall be limited to 6 personal fouls per quarter, with each foul in excess of 6 per quarter to be penalized by an additional free throw except as hereinafter provided.

C. During each over-time period the limitation shall be 3 personal fouls per team with an additional free throw for each personal foul in excess of 3, except as hereinafter provided.

3. Free throw lane is to be bounded by two lines 12 feet apart.

4. If the foul committed by a player is in excess of the number limited for his team, and calls for a single free throw, one additional penalty free throw is allowed.

5. If the excess foul calls for two free throws as in the case of a deliberate foul, or in the case of a backcourt foul, or one or two free throws, as in the case of a foul against a player in the act of shooting, the penalty free throw shall be permitted if any of the free throws is unsuccessful.

6. Any penalty free throw must be attempted by the fouled player except as provided by the rules where a player is injured.

7. The deliberate foul rule must be strictly enforced by the officials.

8. A disqualified player, regardless of the reason for disqualification, must attempt any foul awarded him by an official before leaving the game, unless the official in the exercise of his discretion, permits the player to leave before shooting the foul.

For the purpose of the rules indicated hereafter and to eliminate the possibility of confusion, the game clock as heretofore, will be referred to as such, but the device to indicate the expiration of 24 seconds shall be referred to as "the timer."

9. A team in control of the ball must make an attempt to score within 24 seconds after gaining control of the ball. To constitute a legal attempt to score the following two conditions must be complied with:

A. The ball must leave the player's hands prior to the expiration of 24 seconds.

B. The ball must hit the rim or a legal surface of the backboard.

10. If there is a question as to whether or not an attempt to score has been made within 24 seconds, and there is a doubt in the mind of the official as to whether or not the rule has been violated, the final decision shall be made by the referees on the floor who shall, in the event of doubt as to the expiration of 24 seconds, give the player the benefit of the doubt if the ball hits the rim or a legal surface of the backboard or if a field goal is scored, which, in such event, shall count.

11. The trailing official shall have the primary responsibility of indicating to the operator of the 24 seconds timer when there has been a change of control and when the timer is to start or stop.

12. By the adoption of the 24 seconds rule and the rule limiting the number of fouls per team per quarter or over-time period, any rules heretofore in effect directly conflicting with the new rules are rescinded and suspended, especially the rule as to jump balls during the last two minutes of the regulation game and the two foul rules during the third and fourth quarters of the game.

13. The backcourt foul rule remains but the midcourt line is used instead of the 40 ft. line as originally provided.

14. If it is determined by an official that a team should lose possession of the ball because of failure to attempt a shot within the time limited, the ball shall be taken out of bounds on the side of the court where the center line intersects the boundary of the court, or where the extension of the free throw line would intersect the sides of the court, whichever intersection is nearest to the place where play was suspended, and in each such case, the official must handle the ball.

15. If a ball is touched by a defensive player who does not gain control, the timer shall continue to run.

16. If a defensive player causes a ball to go out of bounds, the timer is stopped and the offensive team shall, on regaining control of the ball on the playing court, have the unexpired time or 10 seconds, whichever is longer, to continue control of the ball.

17. Whenever a ball goes out of bounds the timer shall be stopped.

18. During the last two minutes of a game the game clock shall stop whenever a ball goes out of bounds.

19. Rolling the ball on to the floor from out of bounds is prohibited under penalty of loss of possession.

keep your EYE on the BALL!

THE sharpsshooting Rochester Royals know the importance of "keeping their eyes on the ball" . . . and they know that good lighting is important to fast, accurate seeing . . . a must in championship basketball. That's why they're thrilled to be playing most of their home games on the "best lighted court" in the league.

Good lighting is just as important in the slower and steadier pace of home and business life. Wherever it is used it reduces accidents, protects eyesight and improves efficiency.

LET US HELP YOU PLAN

The RG&E has a staff of qualified lighting experts who will assist you in planning adequate lighting for your home or business. Call LOcust 7000 tomorrow and ask about "BETTER LIGHT FOR BETTER SIGHT."
